

Sociolinguistics

Prerequisite: 31300

Credit Hours: (2)

This course examines social subjects from linguistic point of view and considers dialects and their roles in social evaluations. The course covers such concepts as language, accent, bilingualism, idiolects, registers, and social dissatisfaction with language diversities.